

2009-2010 DIRECTORY

The PATTERSON Difference

Small is Beautiful

Size matters. The State Department is the smallest senior cabinet agency; White House staff and the CIA are similarly lean and select. The natural environment of diplomacy and business is intimate and personal, one-on-one or small groups. Cognoscenti understand that key decision making takes place in more restricted venues (think the Cabinet, UN Security Council or corporate boardrooms). We believe the same holds true for professional education.

Keeping our program small, select, and focused (75 full-time, resident masters students; only 35 admitted each year) lets us provide an exceptional level of attention, instruction, and interaction. Our focus is directly on our students, with seminars, conferences, speakers' programs, and events specially crafted to develop their full potential. We are proud to measure our success by the individual strength of our graduates, not the strength of their numbers.

Our high-value, low cost professional masters program offers concentrations in diplomacy, international commerce, development, international security and intelligence.

Patterson School of Diplomacy and international Commerce
455 Patterson Office Tower
University of Kentucky
Lexington, KY 40506
(859) 257-4666

www.uky.edu/PattersonSchool

Faculty

Ambassador Carey Cavanaugh

Director and Professor

Areas of Specialization: Conflict Resolution, Diplomacy, Defense/National Security, Russia and the Caucasus, Europe

Dr. John D. Stempel

Senior Professor of International Studies

Areas of Specialization: Diplomacy, Foreign Policy, Cross-Cultural Negotiation, Near Eastern Politics, Iran and India

Dr. Karen Mingst

Lockwood Chair Professor

Areas of Specialization: International Cooperation, Development, International Organization, Non-government Organizations, International Law, United Nations, Africa

Dr. Evan Hillebrand

Professor

Areas of Specialization: Economic Development and Poverty, Globalization, Economic Power, and Modeling of Political Relationships

Dr. Robert Farley

Professor

Areas of Specialization: Military Doctrine, Transnational Politics, National Security

Mr. Thomas McGinty

Adjunct Professor

Areas of Specialization: International Commerce, Corporate Outreach, Government Relations

Mr. Harry Mason

Adjunct Professor

Areas of Specialization: Intelligence, Homeland Security

Dr. Clifford Tsuboi

Adjunct Professor

Areas of Specialization: Science/Technology Policy, Defense/National Security, Homeland Security

Ambassador George Staples

Adjunct Professor

Areas of Specialization: Foreign Service, Defense/National Security, Diplomacy, Development, Ethics, Africa

Dr. Darrin Gulla

Lecturer, Joint Professor with the Gatton School

Area of Specialization: Economics

Staff

Victoria Vaughn

Admissions/Administrative Support

Christine Wolcott

Student Services

Second Year Students

Patrick Barker, Kentucky

*B.A., University of Kentucky
Geography and Spanish*
Concentration: Security/Diplomacy

Scott Bessin, Kentucky

*B.A., University of Kentucky
Political Science*
Concentration: Diplomacy/ Security

Michael Brewster, Kentucky

*B.S.W., University of Kentucky
Social Work and Japan Studies*
Concentration: Security/International Organizations

Jason Card, Florida

*B.A., University of Central Florida
Political Science*
Concentration: Diplomacy/International Development

Sean Chandler, Kentucky

*B.A., Centre College
International Relations and Spanish*
Concentration: Diplomacy/International Communications

Julia Dzingailo, Belarus

*B.A., Minsk State Linguistic University
English and German*
Concentration: International Organizations/International Commerce

Nicole Eovino, Kentucky

B.A., University of Kentucky
Foreign Languages and International Economies
Concentration: International Commerce/National Intelligence

David Evans, Kentucky

B.A., University of Richmond
Journalism and French
Concentration: Security/International Commerce

Angela Feeney, Kentucky

B.A., Middle Tennessee State University
Global Studies
B.S., Middle Tennessee State University
International Relations
Concentration: International Commerce/Diplomacy

Trey Fleming, Kentucky

B.A., Bucknell University
International Relations and East Asia Studies
Concentration: International Commerce/ Diplomacy

William David Frost, Kentucky

M.A., University of Louisville
Political Science
B.A., Oberlin College
East Asian Studies
Concentration: Security/Intelligence

Tim Gehring, Kentucky

B.A., Asbury College
International Business and Economics
Concentration: International Development/ Security

Rebecca Griffin, Kentucky

B.A., University of Kentucky

Political Science, Spanish and Latin American Studies

Concentration: International Organizations/Commerce

Alexander Hadden, Vermont

B.A., Saint Michael's College

Spanish

Concentration: International Commerce/Economic Development

Fuad Huseynov, Azerbaijan

B.A., Azerbaijan State Economy University

Economics

Concentration: International Commerce/Development

Patrick Lonneman, Kentucky

B.A., University of Kentucky

History

Concentration: International Commerce/Development

John Mains, Kentucky

B.A., University of Kentucky

Public Service and Leadership and Agricultural Economics

Concentration: Diplomacy/Intelligence

Jennifer Martin, Kentucky

B.A., Georgetown College

Political Science and Philosophy

Concentration: Diplomacy/Development

Jessica Miller, Ohio

B.A., Miami University

Diplomacy and Foreign Affairs

Concentration: International Commerce/Diplomacy

Patricia Murphy, Iowa

B.A., University of Notre Dame

Anthropology

Concentration: Diplomacy/International Commerce

Lance O'Cull, Kentucky

B.A., University of Louisville

History

Concentration: Diplomacy/Intelligence

Erin Petrey, Kentucky

B.A., The George Washington University

International Affairs and Anthropology

Concentration: Diplomacy/International Commerce

Adam Rector, Kentucky

B.A., University of Kentucky

Marketing

Concentration: International Development/International Commerce

Katie Reed, Kentucky

B.A., Georgetown College

Spanish and International Business

Concentration: International Development/International Commerce

David Riley, Kentucky

*B.A., Transylvania University
Economics and Spanish*

Concentration: Diplomacy/Intelligence

Anthony Russo, Kentucky

*B.A., University of Kentucky
Political Science and Mathematical Economics*

Concentration: International Commerce/International Security

David Shams, Kentucky

*B.A., Murray State University
Political Science and Global Studies*

Concentration: Diplomacy/Middle East

Patrick Smith, Kentucky

M.A., University of Kentucky Education

*B.A. University of Kentucky
History and Geography*

Concentration: International Security/Intelligence

Carly Sparks, Kentucky

*B.A., Ithaca College
Journalism, Politics and Italian*

Concentration: International Security/Intelligence

Blake Stabler, South Carolina

*B.A., Oglethorpe University
History*

Concentration: International Development/Agricultural Economics

Alaina Stephens, Kentucky

B.A., Transylvania University

International Security and Philosophy

Concentration: National and International Security/
Intelligence

Laura Stephens, Georgia

B.A., Armstrong Atlantic State University

Law and Society

Concentration: National Security/Intelligence

Alan Waddell, Kentucky

B.A., University of Kentucky

Foreign Language, International Economics and Spanish

Concentration: International Commerce/Intelligence

First Year Students

Leila Brandon, Washington

*B.A., University of Washington
International Studies*

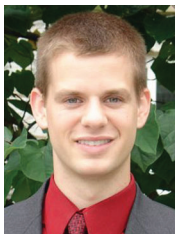

Concentration: Development

Kyle Brewer, Kentucky

*B.A., University of Kentucky
Management and History*

Concentration: International Commerce

Jay Carnes, Kentucky

*B.A., Centre College
Economics and History*

Concentration: International Security/Diplomacy

William Cash, North Carolina

*M.B.A., University of Kentucky
B.A., Elon University*

International Studies and Spanish

Concentration: International Commerce/Development

Joel Charalambakis, Kentucky

*B.A., Asbury College
Financial Mathematics and History*

Concentration: Diplomacy/International Development

Travis Cone, Kentucky

*B.A., Columbia University
History*

Concentration: Diplomacy

Katelyn Cooper, Kentucky

B.A., Asbury College

History

Concentration: Intelligence/Security

Cody Dyke, Virginia

B.S., University of Virginia

Systems Engineering

Concentration: International Security/Economics

Jeremy Fugleberg, South Dakota

B.A., South Dakota State University

Journalism and Political Science

Concentration: Diplomacy/Security

Nicolas Gutowski, Pennsylvania

B.A., Mercyhurst College

Intelligence Studies

Concentration: Diplomacy

Elizabeth Hagee, Kentucky

B.A., University of Kentucky

Spanish and Latin American Studies

Concentration: International Development/Diplomacy

Thompson Haggin, Kentucky

B.A., Transylvania University

International Affairs

Concentration: National Security/Intelligence

Ted Houlehan, Kentucky

Juris Doctor, University of Kentucky
B.A., Emory University
Political Science and Sociology
Concentration: Intelligence/Security

Jesseca Hutchings, California

B.A., University of California Riverside
Economics
Concentration: Intelligence/International Economics

Amanda Ingenito, Virginia

B.A., Randolph-Macon College
International Studies, Sociology and German
Concentration: Diplomacy/Intelligence

Nazir Kabiri, Afganistan

B.A., Kabul University
Economics
Concentration: Diplomacy

Casper Kamau, Kenya

B.A., Kentucky State University
Political Science
Concentration: Development

Ryan Koenig, Kentucky

B.S., Moody Bible Institute
Bible Studies
Concentration: Diplomacy/International Security

Brad Larkin, Kentucky

B.A., Tulane University

International Relations and International Development

Concentration: Diplomacy/Law

Kelly Litz, West Virginia

B.A., West Virginia University

International Studies and Spanish

Concentration: International Development

Danielle Miller, Kentucky

B.A., Vanderbilt University

International Development

Concentration: Diplomacy/Economics

Amanda Mullikin, Kentucky

B.A., Georgetown College

Psychology

Concentration: International Development/Anthropology

Justin Mullikin, Kentucky

B.A., Georgetown College

Philosophy

Concentration: International Development

Brianna Olson, Tennessee

B.A., Eckerd College

International Relations

Concentration: Diplomacy

David Oswald, Utah

*B.A., Brigham Young University
International Relations*

Concentration: Security/Intelligence

Caren Roushkolb, Ohio

*B.S., University of Akron
Political Science*

Concentration: Diplomacy/International Organizations

Ryan Saxton, Kentucky

*B.A., Murray State University
International Business*

Concentration: International Development

Evan Spanogians, Ohio

*B.A., University Miami
History and Political Science*

Concentration: Diplomacy

Matthew Springate, Kentucky

*B.A., Furman University
Political Science*

Concentration: International Commerce

Peter Stephan, Kentucky

*B.A., Northwestern University
Political Science*

Concentration: Diplomacy/ Law

Jonathan Stutte, Missouri

B.A., Truman State University

Linguistics

Concentration: Diplomacy

Kristen Svarczkopf, Kentucky

B.A., University of Kentucky

Philosophy

Concentration: International Development

Violeta Teutu, Moldova

B.A., Beltsy State University

International Relations

Concentration: International Development

Okleley Wilson-Tei, Ghana

B.A., Hanover College

International Studies

Concentration: International Commerce/Diplomacy

Elizabeth Woerner, Kentucky

M.B.A., University of Kentucky, Gatton College of Business and Economics

B.A., Western Kentucky University

Psychology

Concentration: International Commerce/Development

Jason Woodall, Kentucky

B.A., Centre College

International Studies

Concentration: International Commerce

Yajiao Yang, China

B.A., Southwestern University of Finance and Economics

Law and Business

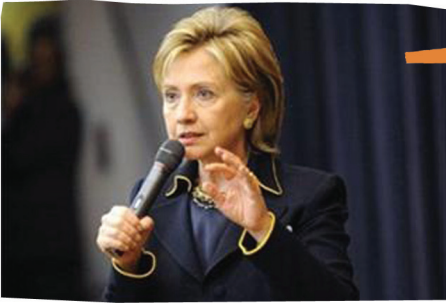

Concentration: International Commerce

Personal

Passionate

Professional

Real World Diplomatic Skills

Our program is focused and flexible. Core courses ensure students obtain a strong foundation of theoretical and practical knowledge. We know that advanced diplomatic skills have utility far beyond the Foreign Service. We concentrate on developing students' professional writing, public speaking, and people skills. Learning how to be effective as a negotiator or mediator, knowing how to accommodate or adapt to cultural differences, and being comfortable with economic and statistical analysis make our graduates exceptional and effective.

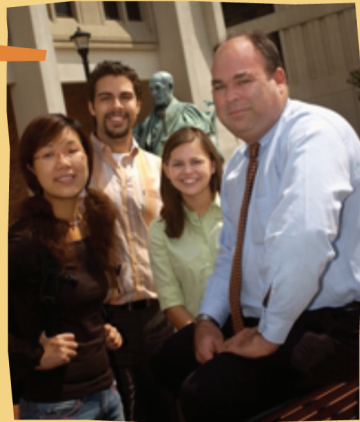

Corporate Engagement

In today's "flat" world an exposure and appreciation of international business is increasingly essential to any professional education. At the Patterson School we not only bring in key corporate leaders working at the forefront of globalization, but travel as a group (again an advantage of our small size) to headquarters, manufacturing, and operating facilities of several leading multinational corporations.

About Patterson

Personal Passionate Professional

For 50 years the Patterson School of Diplomacy and International Commerce has concentrated on providing an exceptional masters degree program that prepares future leaders for successful careers in international affairs.

Our hallmarks have been the deliberate small size of our school, the low cost of our program and its focus on both diplomacy and international commerce. Patterson graduates pursue exciting careers with governments, international organizations, NGOs, think tanks and in the private sector.

Patterson School faculty are a mix of exceptional scholars and practitioners with decades of experience at the Departments of State, Commerce and in the Intelligence Community. They know firsthand what is needed to succeed in the international arena.

Our program is notable for its passion. The faculty are dedicated to providing an unparalleled direct learning experience to ensure students have the knowledge, skills and experience to operate on the world stage. Our students seek more than just a profession, but a chance to help build a better world.

